LISA HOULGRAVE is a New York City based fashion and portrait photographer but has always been a country girl at heart. Born and raised in Virginia, some of her life's most important lessons were learned while on the back of a horse. When the opportunity arose to shoot the magnificent NOVELISTO (AKA ATHANSOR,) she was able to "capture not just his natural beauty, but haunting images that speak of something much more soulful."

WARNER BROTHERS hired expert horse trainers REX PETERSON AND CARI SWANSON to find the perfect horses and train them to perform complicated scenes for their film "Winter's Tale". They cast a wide net to find the perfect white horse to play ATHANSOR whose character not only embodies power and strength but also one of otherworldly angelic wisdom. After weeks of searching and many false leads, they finally discovered the ideal horse in Novelisto, affectionately known as Listo. His noble air, regal temperament and stunning beauty won everyone over, especially his co-star Colin Farrell. His debut role on the silver screen will win the hearts of fans around the world.
